

Energy Education Classes 2009-2010

NeighborImpact Energy Education is required for all eligible participants in the low-income weatherization program. This class is offered at several sites and is open to Transitional Housing tenants, parents of Head Start attendees, qualified weatherization applicants, and groups serving Senior's (defined as those over 60 years of age, families with high energy use, and families with children). Energy education is offered to households in Crook, Deschutes, and Jefferson Counties. This program is for homeowners and renters living in houses, mobile homes, or multi-family complexes.
